

The image features two vibrant yellow roses in full bloom, positioned side-by-side against a dark, blurred background. The roses are the central focus, with their petals showing a gradient from pale yellow to a deeper golden hue. The entire scene is enclosed within a multi-layered decorative border. The innermost border is a simple gold line, followed by a wider band with a repeating pattern of small, stylized floral or heart shapes. The outermost border is a thick, dark brown frame with a repeating pattern of larger, more ornate heart or shell-like motifs.
